Class
1st Class
Responsible academic staff member (teacher's full name)
Luis Pedro Chaves Rodrigues Cunha
Syllabus (1000 characters available)
The Introduction is designed to critically determine the scope of economics in light of the classical-marxist and the subjectivist-marginalist approaches. Then, a survey of traditional ideas on economics, from the Antiquity and the Middle Ages down to Mercantilism, is followed by an analysis of the evolution of economics, ranging from the physiocrats and the Classical School and Marx until the emergence of marginalism. (keynesianism and neomonetarism will be dealt with in Political Economy II).
